<http://www.sena-turk.org>

An intensive teaching programme arranged by the International Breast Ultrasound School (IBUS) together with SENATURK – the Turkish Academy of Senology

This course is recommended by the European School of Oncology (ESO)

Sunday, 15th June to Tuesday, 17th June, 2014

Marmara University Hospital

Istanbul, Turkey

Course Description: The IBUS – International Breast Ultrasound Course brings together an international faculty of breast ultrasound experts. Presentations will highlight recent developments of clinical value, and define the current role of breast ultrasound. Programme topics include new technologies, breast ultrasound screening, benign and malignant disease detection and diagnosis, and ultrasound-guided interventional techniques.

The lectures programme will be complemented by case presentations and panel discussions involving the expertise of the international faculty members with audience participation. A series of “hands-on” workshops will enable participants to gain valuable experience in the practical aspects of breast ultrasound imaging and the use of interventional techniques under the supervision of the expert faculty. This course provides a unique opportunity for all participants to benefit from the international faculty gathered in Istanbul for this important (CME) activity.

Course Convenors: Professor Erkin Aribal - Istanbul, Professor Enzo Durante - Ferrara
Professor Bahadır M Gulluoglu - Istanbul, Professor Alexander Mundinger – Osnabrück
